FINANCIAL HELP LINE

Financial problems plague a significant portion of Americans. From the most basic questions to the more complex, our accredited financial counselors can help. Debt, health care expenses, housing issues, credit card spending, taxes, college funding, retirement planning, are just some of the issues that our members can get help with.

Financial Helpline members have free access to experienced, accredited financial counselors. Our counselors will objectively assist members in assessing situations, discussing options, creating an approach, finding the right resources and information, and help resolve financial questions.

Ask AFS financial help line highlights include, but are not limited to the following:

- Live, confidential, objective guidance from experienced, accredited financial counselors.
- 24/7 Direct access to Financial Resource Center
- Direct access to interactive calculators, educational materials.
- Extensive library of financial information, articles focusing on what to look out for, and other material to help you plan ahead.
